Tompkins Cortland Community College Master Course Syllabus

Course Discipline and Number: HSTY 110 Year: 2023-2024
Course Title: World History to 1500 Credit Hours: 3

Attendance Policy: To maintain good grades, regular attendance in class is necessary. Absence from class is considered a serious matter and absence never excuses a student from class work. It is the responsibility of all instructors to distribute reasonable attendance policies in writing during the first week of class. Students are required to comply with the attendance policy set by each of their instructors. Students are not penalized if they are unable to attend classes or participate in exams on particular days because of religious beliefs, in accordance with Chapter 161, Section 224-a of the Education Law of the State of New York. Students who plan to be absent from classroom activity for religious reasons should discuss the absence in advance with their instructors. See college catalog for more information.

Services for Students with Disabilities: It is the College's policy to provide, on an individual basis, reasonable accommodation to students with disabilities, which may affect their ability to fully participate in program or course activities or to meet course requirements. Students with disabilities should contact the Coordinator of Access and Equity Services, to discuss their particular need for accommodations. All course materials are available in alternate formats upon request.

Course Description

This course surveys the major developments in World Civilizations before 1500 and uses a chronological, regional, and intercultural approach. Students study social, political, religious, and economic changes that have created the complex modern world. Focus is given to areas of Europe, the Americas, Africa, the Middle East, and Asia. HSTY 110 fulfills the SUNY General Education Other World Civilizations requirement. Prerequisites: RDNG 116 if required by placement testing; prior completion or concurrent enrollment in ENGL 100 and MATH 090 if required by placement testing. 3 Cr. (3 Lec.) Fall and spring semesters.

Course Context/Audience

World History Before 1500 is an introductory survey course that should be accepted for transfer to four year colleges as a liberal arts or humanities elective. It is also appropriate for students majoring in social science disciplines and those interested in becoming a teacher. In addition to satisfying the SUNY General Education Other World Civilizations requirement, the course supports mastery of TC3 general education goals. The course requires substantial amounts of reading. Students will be expected to write at least one historical essay to demonstrate their comprehension of the course material in the last half of the semester. Critical thinking and research skills will be utilized during class sessions to examine and interpret historical documents.

Basic Skills/Entry Level Expectations

Writing: WC College level writing skills are required. See course co-requisites or pre-requisites.

Math: M1 Taking MATH 090 (if needed) – Course requires limited use of very basic mathematical skills.

Reading: R4 Before taking this course, students must satisfactorily complete RDNG 116 or have assessment indicating that no reading course was required.

Course Goals

To understand the modern global world, students must be knowledgeable of the cultural and societal foundations of the modern world upon which that world is built. Tribal societies and civilizations on all continents have flourished and come into contact in various ways. The purpose of this course is to teach how peoples in Africa, Asia, the Middle East, the Americas and Europe have developed, interacted, learned from, and influenced each other's histories until the advent of the pre-modern world around 1500.

Course Objectives/Topics

Objective/Topic	% Course
The student should be able to demonstrate an understanding of the process of historical change in different cultural regions over time; the central theme of this course will focus on analyzing the histories and cultures of Africa, Asia, the Middle East, the Americas, and Europe.	100%
The student should be able to demonstrate an appreciation of the diversity of historical experiences and viewpoints created by humanity across time until the 1500s. The student should be able to critically assess throughout the course the varying historical arguments presented to explain changes by using as evidence both primary and secondary sources.	100%
The student should be able to write a competent college-level essay using historical sources.	20%
The student should be able to use information gathering literacy skills to interpret and understand maps, charts and graphs.	20%
Note: The sum of the percentages of course time allocated to each object exceeds 100% because s the knowledge and skills covered by some objectives overlap.	tudent mastery of

General Education Goals - Critical Thinking & Social/Global Awareness

CRITICAL THINKING OUTCOMES	HOW DOES THE COURSE ADDRESS THE OUTCOMES (Include required or recommended instructional resources, strategies, learning activities, assignments, etc., that must or could be used to address the goal/outcomes)
Students will be able to develop meaningful questions to address problems or issues. gather, interpret, and evaluate relevant sources of information. reach informed conclusions and solutions. consider analytically the viewpoints of self and others.	Discuss historical methodology and utilize critical analysis of documents for bias. Students will be involved in regular debates and write comparative intercultural paragraphs/essays. From text book readings, etc., students will engage in historical and intercultural comparisons that form the basis of the pre-modern world. Students will analyze maps, charts, graphs, and consult the internet and other sources available at the library. This will be useful in composing annotated bibliographies. This will be accomplished via discussions, in-class debates, and critical paragraphs/essays. Students will be required to support their own opinions, in writing and in debate, and to defend their position and demonstrate knowledge of historical relevance. Students will develop the ability to analyze primary and secondary sources. Students will be required to research various aspects of pre-modern cultures.

SOCIAL/GLOBAL AWARENESS OUTCOMES	HOW DOES THE COURSE ADDRESS THE OUTCOMES (Include required or recommended instructional resources, strategies, learning activities, assignments, etc., that must or could be used to address the goal/outcomes)
Students will begin to understand how their lives are shaped by the complex world in which they live.	The mindsets of the pre-modern world will be made relevant to students as the foundation of modern world mindsets. Students will understand that many of their social and cultural ideas are derived from pre-modern thought.
Students will understand that their actions have social, economic and environmental consequences.	from pre-modern thought. Students will understand that many of their economic choices are derived from pre-modern thought. Students will understand that modern environmental consequences are derived in part from social, economic, and personal choices made in the past that affects one's quality of life today. Students will be involved in regular debates and write comparative intercultural paragraphs/essays.

Instructional Methods

Lectures should be intended to provide a guiding framework for the course material, to summarize ideas and trends, to highlight key factors, and to expand upon the importance of the textbook information. They should be combined with student discussion and question/answer sessions that are intended to have students offer commentary and to articulate their perception of the material presented. In addition, collaborative classroom sessions on cross-cultural interactions should be utilized to allow students to practice doing historical investigation in hands-on/role –playing exercises. Guest lectures, oral presentations, and/or DVD's should be used to supplement the course materials. Using the textbook as the structural guide for the course along with other supplemental materials, instructors should present topics such as: encounters between different societies from prehistory to the ancient civilizations of the Middle East, China, Mesoamerica, Greece, Rome, and the tribal civilizations of North America, Africa, and the emerging medieval civilizations of Islam, Japan, China, India, and Europe.

Methods of Assessment/Evaluation

Method	% Course Grade
Examinations using maps, multiple choice, matching, fill-in-the-blank, short answer, and/or interpretative essay questions	40-60%
Primary source reaction/interpretation essay (s) using sources on themes from the course	10-30%
Daily attendance, classroom participation in discussions and question/answer sessions, individual and/or group oral presentations	10-30%

Text(s)

William J. Duiker, Jackson J Spielvogel, World History to 1500, 6TH edition, Pennsylvania State University, ISBN 10: 049

Bibliography

Auboyer, J. Daily Life in Ancient India. New York: The MacMillan Company, 1965.

Berglund, A. Zulu Thought-Patterns and Symbolism. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1989.

Bernstein, Josh. Digging for the Truth. Gotham Books, 2006.

Boardman, John, Greek Art. Thames & Hudson, 1985

Burns, Thomas S. Barbarians Within the Gates of Rome. Indiana University Press, 1994.

Reviewed Spr 14

Cantor, N. The Civilization of the Middle Ages. New York: Harper Perennial, 1994.

Clendinnen, I. Aztecs. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1995.

Confucius, translated by J. Legge. Analects. New York: Dover Publications, Inc., 1971.

Davies, Philip. The Complete World of the Dead Sea Scrolls. Thames & Hudson, 2002

De Hartog, L. Genghis Khan. London: I. B. Tauris and Co., Ltd., 1989.

Dever, William, Who Were the Early Israelites and Where Did They Come From?

Wm. B Eerdnann Publishing Co. 2003

Diamond, Jared Guns, Germs, and Steel. W. W. Norton Publishers, 1997.

Edwards, Paul and Popkin, Richard H., Medieval Philosophy. Free Press 1996.

Feest, Christian F., Native Arts of North America. Thames & Hudson. 1992.

Finkelstein, Israel and Silverman, Neil Asher, The Bible Unearthed. Free Press, 2001.

Fletcher, R. The Barbarian Conversion. New York: Henry Holt and Co., Inc., 1998.

Hopkins, Jack W. Latin America Perspectives on a Region. Holmes & Meier, 1987.

James, Peter and Thorpe, Nick. Ancient Inventions. Ballantine Books, 1994.

Kahn, P. The Secret History of the Mongols. San Francisco, North Point Press, 1984.

Keay, J. India: A History. New York: Grove Press, 2000.

Keen, M. Chivalry. New Haven: Yale University Press, 1984.

Keller, Werner. The Bible as History. William Morrow & Co., 1980.

Knowles, David, The Evolution of Medieval Thought. Longman Group Limited. 1988

Lao Tzu, translated by W. Chan. The Way of Lao Tzu. New York: The Bobbs-Merill Co., Inc., 1963.

Leon-Portilla, M. Aztec Thought and Culture. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1990.

Prabhavananda, Swami and C. Isherwood. The Song of God: Bhagavad Gita. New York: New American Library, 1951.

Livy. The Early History of Rome. New York: Penguin Books, 1979.

Lomax, D. The Reconquest of Spain. New York: Longman, 1978.

Luttwak, E. The Grand Strategy of the Roman Empire. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1976.

Maalouf, A. The Crusaders Through Arab Eyes. New York: Schocken Books, 1984.

Mallory, J. In Search of the Indo-Europeans. New York: Thames and Hudson, 1989.

Mannix, J. The Celts. Rochester, Vermont: Inner Traditions International, 1993

Mason, Penelope. History of Japanese Art. Prentice Hall, 1993

Miller, Mary Ellen, The Art of Mesoamerica: From Olmec to Aztec. Thames & Hudson, 1986

Reviewed Spr 14

Miller, Rebecca Stone, Art of the Andes: From Chavin to Inca. Thames & Hudson, 1995

Montross, Lynn. War Through the Ages. Harper Row Publishers, 1960.

Phillips, Charles, The Illustrated Encyclopedia of the Aztec & Maya. Lorenz Books.

Ramage, Nancy J and Ramage, Andrew, Roman Art. Prentice Hall, 1996.

Reischauer, Edwin and Jansen, Marius B, The Japanese Today. Harvard University Press, 1995.

Russell, H. Indian New England Before the Mayflower. University Press of New England, 1980.

Saggs, H.W.F., Babylonians. University of Oklahoma, 1995

Schele, L. and D. Freidel. A Forest of Kings: The Untold Story of the Ancient Maya. New York: William Morrow and Co., Inc., 1990. Southern, R.W., The Making of the Middle Ages. Yale University Press, 1992

Tedlock, D., translator. Popol Vuh. New York: Touchstone, 1996.

Watterson, Barbara, The Egyptians. Blackwell Publishers, 1997

Other Learning Resources

Audiovisual

Media coverage of world affairs offers streaming video options for class use; also available for use would be DVDs from various public collections.

Electronic

There are a myriad of collegiate textbook websites available for instructor support, as well as many sponsored and hosted by colleges and universities. Many of them specialize in posting historical documents for free use, including, but not restricted to:

www.history.college.hmco.com/instructors0

www.hartford-hwp.com/archives/index.html

www.fordham.edu/halsall

Other

No resources specified